RE: Low Power FM Stations

I am writing in reference to the issue of Low Power FM (LPFM) stations. I listen to K-LOVE radio, a Christian station with positive music and uplifting messages. If the FCC is allowed to introduce LPFM, stations such as K-LOVE, which is carried on an FM translator service, would be removed from the airwaves.

While there are a lot of other stations available, I don't believe their message can match the impact of K-LOVE. Each day they broadcast stories, bible verses, and uplifting messages that are based on a set of Christian values. The programmers refrain from violent or foul language and music, something rarely encountered on other stations.

K-LOVE supports wholesome values and has a positive and encouraging impact on communities all across America. The station is carried on the 106.7 frequency in the Raleigh-Durham area.

We would appreciate it if you would NOT allow this issue to move forward.

Thank you for your consideration and support.

Regards,
Ashley Wright
